From having a rural background to becoming a successful engineer in Silicon Valley today, St. Joseph's Institute of Technology shaped me in all possible ways. I love St. Joseph's Institute of Technology. The professors are understanding and considerate. I knew I could always count on my professors who played a huge role in my education. I always had a person that could answer my questions and guide me in the right path whenever needed. I never imagined myself surrounded by such cool people until it happened when I moved here. It was very socially welcoming, there wasn't a need to remain shy anymore. There are numerous clubs and organizations, surely something for everyone. All of my professors at SJIT strived to make the road leading to my dream career as smooth as possible. I would not have enjoyed my college life without their support, also seeing the passion that they put into their classes every day was extremely inspiring.

“St. Joseph’s is one of the best multidimensional platforms an aspiring graduate can ever hope for”

Today I am able to tackle challenges, manage people and successfully run the operations of a huge organization; it is partially because of the exposure and experiences that the college consistently put me through during my course.

Always grateful to my HOD and all other staff of our department for beautifully balancing the emphasis on academic excellence and personal growth. It is because of that we were able to come out as well rounded individuals.

St.Joseph's Institute of Technology has competitive environment, which helped for my overall development. I.T department has always supported and encouraged my technical curiosities. I have got a great deal of exposure from being member of organizing committees for symposium and club events (especially Maths Club). It helped in boosting my confidence and communication skills.

SJIT has provided us with good placement training and wide opportunities for Campus Placement. It helped me to get placed in Wipro Limited. I thank St.Joseph's I.T department for laying the foundation of my career.

And apart from academic aspects, I have been hosteller for the entire period of my engineering and those four years I had a wonderful time in hostel. SJIT's mess food is the best...

St. Joseph's is the launchpad you need for a great career I had a splendid experience as a student of the Department of Information Technology at SJIT. I am always thankful to all my professors for encouraging me to pursue beyond the curriculum and helping me transform into a successful designer and a better person for life. # B.TECH(IT), 2011-2015 BATCH

It gives me immense pleasure to share about St. Joseph's Institute of Technology. Our College has provided many amenities to students such as Quality food, travel, hostel facilities, sports, extra Curricular activities and Placement training. I truly admire these couple of areas from the bottom of my heart.

Special Coaching were given for the first year students who studied in Tamil medium until their 12th Grade. As I studied in Tamil medium until my 12th grade, it was an obstacle for me and few of my classmates to understand the subjects. The management analysed, understood the situation of the students and provided Special Coaching to the students after regular class hours. It really helped us groom ourselves and eventually were able to grasp the subjects in due course of time

Placement Training to all the students from first year were given. I am not sure how other Institutions are providing the Placement Training to their students. But, here from the first year onwards the students are being prepared for the Placement. They are grooming them from the beginning itself to be ready for an interview. Especially the training that was provided at the end of 3rd Year, before the Students pass to final Year was far more beneficial. It was well planned and very well organized. The Trainers from outside conducted an informative training on how to attend interviews. It was useful for me to attend an interview and get into the corporate.

The moment I entered the college life, I felt like college as my another home. The Department Staff and Management Staff were very well emotionally connected with all the Students. They were very approachable at any time for the Students. Each Department Staff helped us understand the subjects more precisely. Apart from the curriculum, the staff were very supportive, thus encouraging students and helping students to understand their needs.

My heartfelt wishes to Information Technology staffs and management staffs to continue this endeavour!!
