St. Joseph's is an esteemed college, pre-dominantly known for its discipline, but there are various other attractions as well. The lab, mess and bus facilities are good. Placement trainings are very helpful. When I look at my staffs, they are not just faculties, but mentors for our careers, with a large heart. There are various events and contests conducted to prove ourselves. While you are willing to do something, the college will leave no gaps to help you achieve it. For me, our college has been a platform to discover myself and identify my potential. I am indebted to the college for molding me into a multitasker and a determined person.

It is a dream for every student who has always aspired to be an engineer to get themselves into the best engineering college and I am very lucky that I was able to get a seat in St. Joseph's Institute of Technology. Because this is the place where I was able to find a perfect balance between my curricular and extra-curricular activities and here is where they mould each and every student into a professional engineer who will be ready to face the corporate world without any fear. I am saying this with utmost confidence because being a shy and reserved person I was able to crack my very first interview and it was all because of the placement training offered by my college. I would always be grateful to my department HOD and staffs who have supported each and every student from the beginning of the course. It is because of them and the management's constant support through training I am able to work in my company and get appreciated for the work I do.
